

Maureen Snow Andrade

About Me

Education

I have a BA and graduate TESOL certificate from Brigham Young University, an MA in English from the University of Utah, and an EdD in Higher Education Leadership from the University of Southern California.

Professional Experience

I started my career as a faculty member at Brigham Young University Hawaii and am currently a professor in the Organizational Leadership Department at Utah Valley University in Orem, Utah, U.S.A. where I teach organizational behavior and leadership.

Former roles include Associate Vice President for Academic Programs at Utah Valley University where I was responsible for flexible learning, assessment, program review, faculty development, curriculum, general education, degree completion, academic advising, and graduate studies. Prior to that, I was an Associate Dean in Utah Valley University's University College with responsibility for curriculum, learning support programs, and faculty development.

In Hawaii

Utah Valley University

I hold the distinction of Principal Fellow from the Higher Education Academy in the UK for leadership in and commitment to teaching and learning, evidenced by a consistent record of impact at institutional and international levels. I received a Fulbright Specialist award to consult with the Ministry of Education and Higher Education in Qatar in October, 2022.

The South Pacific

I am a former director of the English as an International Language program and chair of the Department of English Language Teaching and Learning at Brigham Young University Hawaii with extensive experience teaching ESL and TESOL. I have directed English language programs and provided in-service TESOL training in international contexts including Israel, Samoa, Fiji, Tahiti, and Cambodia. I served as editor of the TESL Reporter for a number of years, am currently an associate editor for Higher Education Pedagogies, and have been on several editorial boards, including the TESOL Journal and the TESOL Book Publications Committee. I am regularly invited to review manuscripts and submissions to academic conferences.

Scholarship

My scholarly interests include teaching English for academic purposes, curriculum development, distance language learning, autonomy in language learning, program assessment, student transitions, English language development for international students in higher education, higher education access and success, leadership, and cultural and linguistic issues. I regularly present at national and international TESOL and higher education conferences and have a strong publication record.

What I Enjoy

I enjoy designing courses, teaching online, writing and research, interacting with students and colleagues, sharing my skills with others, and learning from others.

I grew up on a ranch in Canada. I love nature, navigating my way around new places, and discovering other cultures and ways of thinking and doing.

Lakes and mountains

Student consulting project

Ranch life